This is a very powerful.NET component that can connect to any database and generate reports on the fly, with custom controls, charts and anything you want...In U.S. Pat. No. 3,900,973, a floor-standing modular caddy is described wherein a base, a movable tray and a cover are adapted to be mounted on each other with a plurality of screws. The cover is provided with an opening which serves as a hinge for a hingedly connected lid. The base has a partitioned compartment having a divider extending across the front of the base and forming a front opening therethrough. The front opening and the divider cooperate with the lid to form a gate which functions to selectively close and open the compartment. In U.S. Pat. No. 4,067,316, a modular caddy is described wherein the bottom of the caddy is formed with a plurality of apertures each of which is formed with an undercut and a pivotable locking tab. The caddy includes a base and a hinged lid which is adapted to be closed and locked by a retainer mechanism on the base which is removably connected thereto. In U.S. Pat. No. 4,157,161, a caddy is described wherein a plurality of compartments are formed in a base adapted to be supported on a surface and an auxiliary lid is hingedly connected to the base at a hinge and is pivotal between a closed position wherein the lid closes off the compartments and an open position wherein the lid is moved to one side of the compartments.Q: The chemical element above gold in the periodic table is According to Wikipedia: Gold has the chemical symbol Au and atomic number 79.  1. Field of the Invention
 The present invention relates generally to oscillator circuits, and more particularly to a bandgap-reference voltage supply and method for use with an oscillator circuit.
 2. Description of Related Art
 Radio frequency (RF) communication systems and, in particular, RF communication systems operating within the ISM band or the unlicensed band in the United States are subject to performance requirements to ensure that they comply with the FCC requirements. These performance requirements, commonly referred to as radiotelephone handset, specify test conditions, including requirements for minimum radiated power and maximum radiated power, as well as specifications for spurious emissions and linearity. The performance requirements are based on the maximum output power of the radiotelephone handset (e.g., cellular phone), which is commonly referred to What's New in the TreeSharp?

TreeSharp can connect to several databases like SQL Server, Access, FoxPro, Netezza, Oracle, MySql, MySQL, SQLite etc. For example it can connect to any SQL Server database or any Oracle database, but it can't connect to any other database, please try the demo link to see if your database is supported!
 Different reports can be generated on-the-fly, in a time-saving, easy and interactive way. For example:
 1) A database table can be selected and then a report can be generated.
 2) A report and a chart are generated from a database field.
 3) Several charts can be generated on the fly and compared.
 4) A detailed and syntetic report can be generated.
 5) Several charts are generated and compared.
 6) A single chart can be generated.
 7) A chart can be generated with a report.
 8) A database can be selected and a chart is generated.
 9) A database can be selected and a report is generated.
 10) TreeSharp can display a tree report as a side-by-side comparison of charts.
 11) TreeSharp can generate the same tree report as a spreadsheet with formulas and indentations.
 12) TreeSharp can generate on-the-fly tree reports in HTML and PDF format.
 13) TreeSharp can generate on-the-fly tree reports in XML format.
 14) TreeSharp can export tree reports to.CSV format, including all data, number of nodes, number of levels, selection of fields to export and more.
 What's more, in most cases, a tree report can be generated very fast. As many databases are already included, for example SQL Server, Access, Oracle, MSSQL, MySQL, SQLite etc. there is a good chance that a database of your choice will be covered with TreeSharp.
 Most of TreeSharp reports are just as easy to use as Crystal Reports. All you need to know is:
 - Create a connection to the database or a query.
 - Set the report's criteria.
 - View the report or draw the chart.
 - Export the report, including all data, number of nodes, number of levels, selection of fields to export and more.
 - Print the report or export to PDF, Excel or Word format.
 - The PDF version can be printed or emailed.
 Here is a example of TreeSharp: What's New in Version 1.6:
 - This is a major update, for more information please read the section below.
 - New features
 - Report count option.
 - New chart compare option.
 - Report options can be saved.
 - Now XMPE support.
 - New tree page.
 - Can show right clicked node as unselected.
 - Show label of each node
