My PS4 has games on it now that I purchased after FIFA 21's release like FIFA 24 and FIFA 22. With that being said, I took FIFA 22 for a ride (or a stroll on the treadmill) when I tried it out on the PS4 Pro. There are a few things that I am in love with in this game, and there are some things that I don't like as much, but as someone who bought FIFA 21 on PS4, I am definitely looking forward to getting FIFA 21 on PS4 Pro so I can take my FIFA experience to the next level. Let's start with how this game runs. I didn't experience any FPS drops or issues with the game running at 1080p at 60FPS or 1440p at 60FPS. It also did not bog down at all playing at the highest graphical settings. All of

FIFA Ultimate Team is a simple-to-play but deep “card” game that allows players to create and manage their own unique FUT Pro Team, and earn rewards along the way. EA SPORTS Football Club – Football Club matches a management simulation of real-world football to a soccer simulation where you play on your favourite team. Create your own team, play as your favourite pro, or take over as another club’s manager, manage the players that you buy, negotiate with other clubs to create a new deal and improve your team, hold transfers, sell your star players and use the performance of your stars to win trophies. GOALS Beauty meets brutality in EA SPORTS Football Club. Attacking AI pushes forward, defensive AI defends, and players are hard-working and quick. No goals are easy and no single player gives an inch in a match, even in the most important areas of the pitch. Every move has consequences for your team or is an opportunity to take a step forward in the match. In FIFA 22, the most realistic dribbling and ball control gameplay in the history of the series delivers the best ball control ever seen in a football game. With up to 15 extra evasive, “Arm-over” and glancing Dribbles, players can slip through the tackle and weave through the defense at speed and with ease. In addition, players are “locked” into a new “Dribble Control” system, making it even harder to stop them from scoring. Player collision is even tougher and more realistic in FIFA 22. Unpredictable and unpredictable collisions can seriously damage your defender. The more a player hits, the more contact and damage are inflicted on the opposing team defender. There are also new tools for coaches to adapt tactics on the fly, including a stunning range of new “Triple Threat” tactics, such as “Treat”, “Wheelbarrow” and “Gravitate.” The FIFA 22 game engine advances aerodynamics further than any football game before it, adding the ability to weather the impact from shots and passes and even forces the ball to swing to avoid an opponent. Dynamic lighting and weather effects create a natural-looking game environment, with new “Sky Screen” technology that replicates the sun and moon. These and other groundbreaking technology enhancements bring a level of realism and authenticity to your game that no football game has ever achieved
