Unquoted string must be a quoted string (delimiter) with no embedded delimiters. You must have at least two outer quotes. The number of arguments passed to a program cannot exceed the number of non-option arguments accepted by the program. The non-option arguments consist of all remaining argument strings, and do not include command-line options which affect the program. Append a suffix of colon and a dot (on the same line as the name) to each argument to implement them as a list. In a list, each consecutive argument is separated from the previous by a single space. In an initializer list, a { } is used to delimit the list. Initializer list = [ a, b, c ] Append a colon and a double dot to each argument in the list. Append a prefix to the items in the list. Prepend the list items with the specified string. In a simple assignment, the target list is preceded by the modified list. # a = [ 1 2 3 ] b = [ { 1 2 3 } ] In a complex assignment, the target list is preceded by the modified list, and then enclosed in braces. a = [ { 1 2 3 } ] b = [ { a : 1 2 3 } ] A list of name = value pairs, separated by commas. The value may be a function call or list expression. C:\ > list = [ obj.foo_bar=5, obj.foo=10 ] Assign new values to existing names. C:\ > a.b = 100 C:\ > a.f = 5.2 A nested list of name = value pairs, separated by commas. The value may be a function call or list expression. Embed a value as a list item. C:\ > my_val = [ -1, 10.0 ] C:\ > [ a., b., ] = [ my_val, 5 ] C:\ > a.b C:\ > Use the default value for the key if the value is a list. C:\ > a [ b ] = [ 1, 2, 3 ] C:\ > a.b C:\ > Append a prefix to the items in the list. C:\ >
