The result is a simulation that features more realistic and varied player behaviors and ball physics. Players have new dynamic postures and movements which are tied directly to their muscle performance, making player body types come to life in a much more natural way. Another technology reinterpretation for FIFA 22 is Dynamic Progression, which balances the intensity of the soccer match as the game moves forward. Now, as the team becomes more and more desperate, you are more likely to find players making hard challenges over the ball to help their teammates gain possession. The off-the-ball motion for every FIFA player has also been enhanced in FIFA 22, enabling more natural movements when players swap positions. Attacking and defending have also been improved, with improved match intelligence, back-tracking and increased ball control for the player. The ball physics model for FIFA 22 has been completely reworked and the ball now reflects the reality of modern-day game speed. It is also responsive to off-ball movement, making the game more unpredictable and unpredictable. Front facing camera has been improved for better viewing experience on large phones. FIFA 22 will be available for both the Xbox One and Windows 10 platforms later this year.

What's new in Fifa 22:

- New Quickmatch: Variety
- Easier to play: Easier to play New User Friendly game interface - More intuitive and easier to use options with new User Friendly menu. For example, when searching for your favourite team, this may now be easier to do.
- New Man Flu: Player Flushing New Man Flu. Players who break a sweat working extra hard on the training pitch need hot and cold shower treatments. The balanced nature of the cause-and-effect of days of hard work makes the Team Management screen more responsive. Players that take a long break to recuperate will get a head start on the bench with a few precious days when fewer options are available.
- Be the Ball: Champions League Full package - Live the action and feel the emotion of the action-packed Â Football Experience that has gained Premier League, La Liga, Bundesliga, Serie A and Copa del Rey. Play head to head with 32 unique clubs in the Champions League, including Manchester United, Real Madrid, Porto and Liverpool. Host the World Cup on 9/8 and play head to head with 32 unique teams from countries including Ghana, Tunisia, Mexico, Saudi Arabia and Canada. Win the Carabao Cup and play head to head with 27 unique clubs from countries including England, Spain, Portugal, France, Belgium and Netherlands.
- Player Pathway enhancements - Enhanced Mentoring Programme: The Player Pathway is a new in FIFA and consists of four main areas: Stabilise, Sprint, Manoeuvre and Accelerate. Progression across the four areas is interconnected to help unlock and master these skills at both youth and senior level. New targets for learning skills have also been added to help develop players for the long-term. For example, learning your sprint, sprinting in a straight line and accelerating away from pressure are the new targets to master in the Progressive Player Pathway.
- Progressive Player Pathway: For example, in FIFA 19, players had to focus on one goal to be considered for promotion. In FIF22, the goals change to develop multiple skills in a single player for the long-term.

- New fatigue status system: Utilising motion capture sensors under the player's jersey it helps to understand a player's physical state through a variety of metrics such as acceleration, stamina, fitness levels, player positioning, and
